

SINCE THEN

NAPA – The Nordic Institute in Greenland is a cultural institution under the Nordic Council of Ministers. The task for NAPA is to support, develop and stimulate the Greenlandic culture life with focus on culture for youth and children, sustainability and interculturality.

“It’s a great opportunity for us to let Greenlandic youth co-operate with professional artists and to share stories and experience with youth from other parts of the Arctic. NAPA takes that expressive urge seriously and is proud to represent Greenland and the Greenlandic culture through our ensemble specially put together for AWG 2016. We are very pleased to have found these 6 young artists you will meet on stage. They will work and develop a show together with some of our more interesting instructors and composers.

We hope that you will enjoy the Greenlandic performance “Since then” and maybe be inspired by the music.”

SINCE THEN

“Since Then” is a piece consisting of storytelling, acting and dance. It tells the story of the four seasons and their creation, according to the arctic cycle, after Maliina became our sun and Aningaaq became our moon. There are two storytellers, and each season is presented through acting or dance. The storytellers are ancient spirits whom guard over the four season spirits. Together they make sure that the cycle of the year keeps its balance, so that all living things may thrive.
